LAFAYETTE, IN--(Marketwire - Dec 11, 2012) - Trinitas Ventures LLC, a premier developer of student housing and mixed-use communities, began constructing a new urban townhouse-style project in Kennesaw, Georgia earlier this fall. The Collegiate Towns and Flats, a 274-unit, 736-bed student housing property with an anticipated opening date of August 2013, will serve students attending Kennesaw State University (KSU).

The Collegiate is located immediately east of KSU's main campus and within minutes of shopping and dining. The student housing property integrates large unit designs and townhouse-style apartment features with the convenience and atmosphere of modern living. It boasts a broad array of amenities including a 6,360 square foot clubhouse containing a recreation area, fitness center, business center and study rooms, as well as courtyards including a basketball court, sand volleyball court, pool, and hot tub.

Equity financing has been provided by a joint venture between Trinitas and Harrison Street Real Estate Capital (HSRE). The project represents the fifth development for the Trinitas/HSRE partnership and the seventh joint venture. Brian Thompson, Senior Vice President at HSRE, stated, "We are excited to invest in another development with Trinitas. Kennesaw State has a strong student housing market which will benefit from Trinitas' development and operational expertise."

Construction financing has been provided by PNC Bank. "We are pleased to continue our relationships with PNC and HSRE," stated Loren King, Chief Operating Officer of Trinitas. "Our strategic partnerships with both PNC and HSRE have been very successful in the past and enable us to capitalize on the best opportunities in student housing nationwide."
